

MODERN CLASSIC

When Piero Fornasetti, a Milanese painter, sculptor and interior decorator, stepped into the world of home accessories in the 1950s, he created a signature style based on optical effects, architectural perspectives and personal motifs that rendered a cult following. More than half a century later, Piero's son Barnaba continues the legacy, with iconic pieces like the Capitello Corinzio Chair, which features heat-curved multi-layer wooden bodywork and black lacquer-turned wooden legs. And now the collection is available in India, courtesy the Marigold Group, making it easier for you to dress up your home with these timeless classics. For more details refer to Shoplist
